

EIGHT MANIACS MET DEATH IN FIRE AT ASYLUM IN CANADA

EIGHT HUNDRED PATIENTS WERE
IN ONE OF MAIN BUILDINGS
AT HAMILTON, ONTARIO
THIS MORNING.

VIOLENCE NECESSARY

Firemen Had to Use Force in Saving
Some of More Violent Inmates
and Some Were Knocked Senseless and Thrown
to Life Nets.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Hamilton, Ontario, Aug. 1.—At least eight and perhaps ten lives were lost
by a fire which partly destroyed one of the main buildings of the insane
asylum on the mountain side southwest of the city today.

Eight hundred patients were in the building when it was discovered on fire. It was only the coolness and bravery of the fire-fighting corps,
nurses and attendants that averted a
more frightful loss of life.

Fire on Fourth Floor.
The fire broke out on the fourth floor where the violent inmates are kept. Most of the men, guarded by attendants, were removed in an orderly procession, but a score fought the rescuers. Three of them, who were taken to the second floor, broke away
and fled back to the blazing corridors.

Firemen ran ladders to the third and fourth floor windows to search for the unfortunate. Those who offered resistance were knocked senseless and dropped to the life nets below.

Eight Bodies Found.
When the fire was extinguished
eight bodies were found. The fire is believed to have been caused by a short circuit of electric wires.

The blazing roof of the asylum,
which is perched on the mountainside, attracted the attention of the entire city, and hundreds flocked to the hill. It was a weird sight that presented itself. Screams of eight hundred inmates drowned every other sound.

Firemen in Peril.
Firemen fighting both flames and
maniacs were in peril and were frequently seen on the window-sills
through which smoke was pouring, trying to drag forth a struggling man.

Fireman Fitzgerald rescued five men, but the sixth broke from his grasp, fled back into the flames and perished.

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT FOR TOGA IN MISSISSIPPI

Democrat Primary Election Was Held
Today To Nominate Senator,
Members Of Legislature And State Officials.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Jackson, Miss., Aug. 1.—A Democratic primary election is being held throughout Mississippi
today for the purpose of nominating
a United States Senator, members of the legislature and state officials.

The three-cornered senatorial fight,
in which Senator Leroy Percy, ex-Governor James K. Vardaman and
C. E. Alexander are the rival contestants, is the all-absorbing feature of the election.

Whirlwind Campaign.
The senatorial campaign closed last night in a whirlwind finish. The fight has been one of the most partisan in the history of the commonwealth, and has attracted wide attention because of the prominence of the contestants and the many bitter personalities exchanged on the stump and in the press. In the contest the entire State has lined up for or against ex-Governor Vardaman, whose acts and utterances while serving as chief executive frequently attracted the attention of the entire country.

Percy and Mr. Alexander have made Vardaman the sole object of their attacks. In their speeches delivered throughout the State they have not hesitated to charge Mr. Vardaman with the misappropriation of public funds while governor and have declared him guilty also of other acts
of personal dishonesty.

Vardaman Has Following.
While Mr. Vardaman has many political enemies he undoubtedly has a large personal following and no one ventures to predict that he will be "knocked under" at the polls today.
State unbiased onlookers incline to the belief that the result will be so close as to necessitate a second primary and that Vardaman certainly will be in it, with either Percy or Alexander eliminated.

The total vote today is expected
to run between 100,000 and 115,000.
Ex-Governor Vardaman's managers declare that he will be an easy winner
defeating both opponents by a decisive majority. Mr. Vardaman himself asserts that he will get 90,000 votes,
the belief that their candidate will get
at least 45,000 votes, which would give a good plurality and which to enter the second primary. Senator Percy's managers, while refraining from giving out any figures, seem to regard the results with equal confidence.

Other Fights.
Next to the senatorial fight the contest that is attracting most attention is that between Theodore G. Hibo and Wiley M. Nash for the nomination for lieutenant governor. The primary also will decide the nominations for
secretary of State, attorney general,
auditor, treasurer and a number of minor State officials. General Earl Brower of Clarksville has no opposition for the gubernatorial nomination
and the State committee consequently declared him the nominee without putting his name on the primary ballot.
This is the first time in Mississippi's
history that an aspirant for the governorship has secured the office without opposition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Joplin, Mo., Aug. 1.—This morning

been entombed since Sunday and for the third time the drill went wide of

The father is confident that his son is

The fourth attempt to reach Clary was successful. From the depths of the drift 35 feet below the surface
floated a feeble "Hello" in answer to the signals of rescuers.
Clary cried up the tube, "the water is three feet deep in some places. I am on a high place. It may not reach me if you hurry. The air is getting bad, but I feel much better now."

Food and drink was passed down
and rescuers believe Clary will be taken out alive, probably tomorrow,
when a larger shaft will be completed.

AMENDED MEASURES PASSED THE SENATE

FARMERS' FREE LIST BILL DE-FEATED BY SENATE BUT LATER AMENDED AND PASSED.

INSURGENTS' VICTORY

Kern Maneuver Skillfully to Bring
About the Desired Results
This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—The United States senate this morning defeated the farmers' free list measure
as it came from the lower house, but later, on motion of Senator Kern, reconsidered it and passed his substitute measure.

Clever Work.
On the first vote the measure was lost by a vote of 39 to 59. Vice President Sherman voting adversely. It was amid the greatest excitement the result was made known and in the tumult that followed, Senator Kern,
democrat of Indiana, was recognized and moved for a reconsideration of the vote, offering a compromise
amendment.

The Steam Roller.
Here it was the steam roller of the democratic-insurgent republican coalition became prominent again and just as in the case of the wool schedule
the other day, the motion to re-consider was carried by a vote of 49 to 29, democrats and insurgents voting
together on the question.

Amendments.
Senator Kern's amendments call for an exemption of meats when coming from countries that admit American cotton, grain, horses, cattle and hogs free of duty. It is most sweeping in its scope and was adopted by the vote
of 48 to 30, one of the insurgents
weakening and coming back to the regular fold.

A number of proposed amendments
were voted down.

May Be Accepted.
As the amendment came from the democrats it may be accepted by the House, in which case it will go almost
at once to the President for his signature or veto. The House democrats will caucus on the result this afternoon when the fate of the measure
will be fixed for a certainty.

Divided Vote.
Cummings, Kanyon and La Follette
voted for, and Cullom, Lorimer, Stephenson, Townsend and Smith of Michigan against the compromise bill.

Sent to Committee.
Following the refusal of the House
to concur in the senate amendments,
the public bill was sent to the conference committee today.

member of the council, but no person
who holds a license for the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be eligible to any such office. Both the mayor and the councilmen shall be nominated
and elected by the voters of the city
at large.

2. The term of mayor shall be six years, and the terms of the other members of the council elected at the first election hereunder shall be two and four years, respectively, and each term shall begin on the third Tuesday
of April next succeeding the election.
At the first meeting of the council at such election, the other two members of the council shall be determined who shall hold the long and who
the short term. At the expiration of their respective terms, successors
shall be elected whose terms of office
shall be six years.

3. If any vacancy occur in the office of mayor or member of the council,
and the unexpired term shall exceed
six months, a special election to fill such vacancy shall be held. If the unexpired term be less than six months the other members of the council shall at their next meeting appoint some one to fill the vacancy.

4. In cities of ten thousand or more population, the mayor and other members of the council shall devote their entire time to the performance of their official duties.
Regarding Removal.
5. The name of the person sought to be removed shall be placed upon
the official ballot without nomination
unless he shall request otherwise in writing. Such a request shall constitute a resignation of his office. If there is more than one candidate exclusive of the person sought to be removed, in any election where the person sought to be removed is a candidate, or if there are more than two candidates in any election where the person sought to be removed is not a candidate, a primary election shall be held two weeks before such election as provided in section 925m-305
of the statutes.

6. If the person sought to be removed is a candidate as heretofore provided, the name of the person receiving the highest number of votes at such primary election shall be placed upon the ballot at such special election with the name of the person sought to be removed, but if the person sought to be removed is not a candidate the two persons receiving
the highest number of votes at such primary election shall be deemed nominated.

7. The council shall publish notice of and make arrangements for holding such primary and election, and the same shall be conducted, and the result thereof shall be made, in accordance with the provisions of the statutes, and declared in writing in the case of other municipal elections, and the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office. If one other than the incumbent receives the highest number of votes at such election, the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed
removed from the office.

8. The successor of the officer so removed shall qualify within ten days
after receiving notification of election
and shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor.

9. This method of removal shall be in addition to other methods provided by law.

New Ordinances.

tion 925m-316 of the statutes three new sub-sections to read: (Section

such petition shall be the same as pro-

5. Any proposed ordinance accompanied by a petition signed by electors
equal in number to not less than twenty-five per cent. of all the votes

of the people if not passed by the council, shall be either (a) passed without alteration by the council within thirty days after attachment of the clerk's certificate to accompanying petition; or (b) shall be referred without alteration by the council

to a vote of the electors of said city at the next regular election, or at a special election, if the same shall be held within ninety days of the date of the clerk's certificate, or at a special election, if no
regular election shall be held within ninety days, but not more than one such special election shall be called in any period of six months.

6. Any proposed ordinance accompanied by a petition signed by electors equal in number to not less than fifteen nor more than twenty-five per cent. of all the votes cast at the last days after the clerk's certificate of

words there shall be a square, and
each elector shall vote "Yes" or "No"
upon such question by making a cross
or other mark in the square adjacent to such word.

8. If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the proposed or-

except by a vote of the people.

vote of the people at any regular or special election a proposition for the recall of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, and should the proposition so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall thereby be repealed, or amended accordingly.

11. Not more than twenty, nor less than five days before the election, the city clerk shall cause every ordinance
or proposition submitted to the voters
at such election to be printed in each
daily newspaper published in the city,
or if there shall be no daily newspaper published in such city then in one or more weekly newspapers of general circulation therein.

Section 6.—There is added to the statutes a new section to read: Section 925m-319. Any city which prior act shall have adopted the plan of reorganization as provided for by sections 925m-301 to 925m-318, inclusive, of the statutes, shall be declared to have adopted the provisions here-

of. Nothing herein contained, however, shall be construed to extend the term of office of any mayor or councilman, but his successor shall have the term of office provided for herein.
Section 7.—The provisions of section 925m-310 of the statutes, apply to mayors or councilmen in office at the time of the passage of this act.

Section 7.—This act shall take effect
and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

APPORTIONMENT FOR

THE STATE GRADED

SCHOOLS IS READY

First and Second Class Institutions
Will Receive $106,300—Nine Schools
in Rock County Get $1,900.

Apportionment of money provided for the state of the first and second class schools of the state has been completed. Two hundred and eighty-seven second-class graded schools of Wisconsin will receive $200
each, and 163 first-class graded schools $300 each from the apportionment of state aid for the year ending June 30, 1911. The announcement by State Supr. C. P. Cary covers an appropriation of $106,300, of which $48,
900 will go to first-class schools and $57,400 to second-class.

Of the amount which has been appropriated for these schools Rock county will receive $1,900. There are three first-class schools in the county
as follows: district number 1 of the town of Center, district number 1 of the town of Milton, and district number 4 of the town of Spring Valley.

There are five second-class schools
in the county that will get state aid:
district number 3 of the town of Rock,
district number 3 of the town of Paddington, district number 9 of the town of Lima, and districts 1 and 5 of the town of Verona.

About 35 schools are not included in this apportionment. Three or four failed to reach the required average of the number school boards failed to carry out the provisions of the state-
graded school law as to auxiliary conditions and in hiring of teachers legally qualified. Some of these schools may be granted special aid later when
a re-inspection shows proper conditions. All counties in the state except Adams are represented in the apportionment announced today. School-board ranks first with seventeen second-class schools and three first-class schools. The total number of state-graded schools applying for aid in the year ending June 30, was 446; the number during the next school year
will exceed 500, so many new schools
will be organized during the present year.

OBITUARY.

Frank C. Ludden.
Frank Chas. Ludden, only son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Ludden, died at his home in the town of Porter, Wednesday, July 26th. The deceased had been a long and patient sufferer from rheumatism. His first attack was eleven years ago, which left his heart
in a weak condition, but otherwise
he was perfectly well. The latter part of April, 1910, he was again stricken with the same disease from which he never recovered. All that medical aid and skill could do was done, but God saw fit to call him to a happier and brighter home beyond.

Mr. Ludden was born in Porter,
January 21, 1867. He leaves a father and mother and two sisters, Mrs. Wm.
Oliver and Miss Mary Ludden, who besides a great number of dear friends
to mourn his untimely death.

The funeral was held from St.
Patrick's church at Janesville, Saturday morning and was very largely attended. Rev. Fr. J. J. Harlin conducted the funeral services, being the priest Frank was instructed in his catechism for communion, confirmation
and also administered the last sacrament.

The pall bearers were: Mr. John
Ray and Henry Fitzgerald, Gabriel
Ludden, Louis McCarthy and Frank
Ford, all cousins of the deceased, except the last one named, who was his school mate and class.

Those present from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. D. Murphy and daughters, Alice and Laura, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore and Mr. Samuel
Seaton from Oregon; Frank Tracy
and mother, Green Day; Mr. and Mrs.
M. Manly and family; Mr. and Mrs.
Con Manly and family, from Sun-
Prairie; Jas. Conlin, from Chicago;
Mr. and Mrs. Bradwick, Albany.

A large procession and beautiful floral offering showed in what respect
and esteem the deceased was held.

Mrs. T. W. Goldin.

Mrs. T. W. Goldin, who died suddenly on Sunday in Okla. City, will be held from the residence of her sister,

DROUTH INCREASES

CATTLE SHIPMENTS

Scarcity of Feed Is Forcing Farmers
Near Edgerton to Sell Their Cattle—Personal News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, Aug. 1.—The shipment of stock out of Edgerton, consisting principally of cattle, is on the increase
daily owing to the scarcity of feed.
The drouth of the present season is the longest one experienced in this section for years and farmers are compelled to dispose of their stock in consequence. Even were the prices on cattle within reason to make it an inducement for the farmers to sell,
but they are not, for all that is realized
is from 2 to 4 1/2 cents per pound for
the poorest and best grades of cattle.
Crops of all kinds are suffering for want of rain. The hay crop is the shortest in years and while many farmers have looked forward to the second crop their expectations are doomed. From the farmers' standpoint the present situation is anything
but encouraging.

Personal Mention.

Frank Cole, M. Ft. Atkinson pearl buyer, was here yesterday on business.

ship is here on a visit with the family

OFFICIALS WILL ATTEND

JOHN O'BRIEN'S FUNERAL

General Manager W. D. Cantillon
and Trainmaster S. A. Morrison, both of Chicago, are expected to be present tomorrow at the funeral of Conductor John M. O'Brien, who was drowned Sunday evening near McGee's Point. The attendance of such officials at the funeral is good evidence that the young man had attracted attention beyond the circle of his acquaintances in this city and the local yards where he was best known. In fact, his record was so good and the prospects for his rapid advancement in the line which he had chosen to follow were so favorable that it was worthy of more than ordinary notice.

That a young man should be removed so suddenly from a life of such promise and from the midst of such a large circle of friends seems doubly
hard and the railroad men are unanimous in expressing their sympathy
for the bereaved family who more than anyone else will miss the bright
face and cheery disposition.

As representatives of the railway company these officials are expected to convey the message of sympathy
from his former employers to the family of the deceased.

Conductor E. Lowry and two brakemen are assigned to duty at the grave-pit which opened today. They will spot the cars at the pit and six other crows will handle the trains which will convey the gravel to its destination on the new Clynan branch.

Fireman Dooley went out on 518
this morning in place of Coughlin.

Switchmen Lightholser, John Behr-
end and Gerry have arranged to lay off tomorrow to attend the funeral of their late friend, Conductor O'Brien.

Switch-tender Smith is on duty at the belt line switch in place of Switchman O'Brien.

Brakeman W. E. Dulin went out this morning with Conductor Perry on the Burlington turn-around.

ROCK.

Rock, Aug. 1.—Prof. A. C. Burrell of Madison, Assistant State Nursery Inspector, spent Wednesday at Kelllogg's
nursery, on his annual inspection tour.
He reported the nursery to be clean
from plant diseases and dangerous insects.

Fred Olin of Omaha, is here for a visit with his sister.

Henry Gray, who underwent an operation at the hospital last Thursday is doing nicely.

Miss Henry Deising and children go to Milwaukee August 1st for a month's visit with relatives.

Miss Florence McCoy of Los Angeles, Cal., and Elizabeth McCoy of Madison, were the guests of their aunt,
Mrs. Jerome Waterman, last week.

Claude Snyder, the cement contractor from Janesville, has a force of men putting in the foundation for Jerome Waterman's barn and silo.

A party of friends from the city
tended Mrs. Fred Gehling a surprise on her birthday Sunday and it was a very happy rosters that bide her guests good night. They all wished her many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. A. Noyes leaves Aug. 1st for a trip to New York and other points of interest in the east.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Every nation is interested more or less in the Eastern question. Since the United States fleet under Admiral Dewey sailed into Manila harbor and took possession of the islands in the name of the United States, there has been much talk pro and con on the subject. To Europe the problem is not so much the Eastern question as it is the Near Eastern, and as one celebrated European statesman once said, "There is always an Eastern problem to be considered." He might have said three Eastern questions with greater accuracy, for there is a middle east question, just as there is a far east question, and a far east question just as there is a near east question. The only reason why the near eastern question has come to be regarded as the Eastern question par excellence is that Constantinople is nearer to Europe than Tehran or Peking, and more great powers are interested in its immediate future. For the sake of political definition, the near east may be defined as the empire of Turkey, in Europe and Asia, and the Balkan states. This district is the tinder-box of Europe. In it men use knives with less provocation than a constable in a western city uses a truncheon; and in it earth-hunger, the most war engendering of diseases, reaches its zenith. Without the pale the great powers of Europe sit and watch, each with its own silent aims, and each duly doubtful of its neighbor.

Nothing, in these circumstances, filled the friends of Turkey with greater satisfaction than the sudden triumph of the Young Turk party over the Hamidian regime. It was recognized that "the sick man" had for the time being recovered; and it was hoped and believed that the promises of equal rights for the many nationalities and sects grouped under the crescent would be translated into sympathetic accomplishment. Gradually, however, the reactionary element began to assert itself. Today the Young Turk party has ceased to be a synonym for reform. It has an extreme right and an extreme left wing; and it is torn by internal dissensions, which have even expressed themselves in the danger of the political bosom.

All this is nothing short of playing the game of those who desire to see the Ottoman empire thrown into the melting pot. Revolt is raging, on the western marches, in Albania, and on the eastern marches, in the Yemen; while the resources of the government which should be expended on welding the empire into the only possible homogeneity, the homogeneity born of confidence and justice, are being squandered in a useless attempt to subject the Arabs of the Red Sea littoral and the Catholic mountaineers of Albania to a doctrinaire process of "Turkification."

The number of Ottoman recruits who have perished in Arabia, like the number of villages and orchards which have been destroyed in Albania, may have been exaggerated. The fact remains that these struggles have been respectively continuing for years and months. Every day which passes weakens the government at Constantinople, and hastens the day of European intervention. That day has been delayed not by the powers' love for Turkey, but by their jealousy of one another. The one real chance for peace in the Balkans, as every really disinterested person knows, is a strong and generously administered Turkish empire, and that is why what is hoped is only the temporary collapse of the Young Turk party is such a source of regret to those who wish Turkey well.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT.
Civic pride is the outgrowth of civic improvement. One way to secure this improvement is for all the citizens to work together for the best interests of the community. Just at present the merchants are most interested in securing a more efficient lighting system for the downtown business districts. The council, final judge in these matters, saw fit to turn their proposition down, and not discouraged by this adverse judgment on the part of the city fathers, the business men are still insisting that it be seriously considered. From an advertising point of view it would be well worth the money it will cost. It will do the whole city a lasting good rather than benefit a few, as some appear to consider. The Gazette advocates its adoption, not from any ulterior motive, but simply from the point of view that anything that makes Janesville better is good for the whole community. The Gazette would like to see the whole city lighted more efficiently—would like to see the taxpayer receive his full money value for the expenses of the present system. Street lighting is a problem. The old days of the gas lights, with their dim, murky glimmer, is gone. Today the gas companies can put in operation as good lights as their competitors, the electric companies. However, there appears no sentiment in this direction and electric light has the call. The fact that the merchants, the heaviest taxpayers, and others interested in seeing Janesville come to the front, are most anxious for this, should receive due consideration by the members of the council. If the condition that those lights be put in by with the promise of the electrical company to remove all their poles from Milwaukee and Main streets, it is safe to say that it would pass quickly. Why not try this angle, gentlemen, and see what the result is? The poles are a menace to the city's fire protection as they now are located and it would add much to the beauty of the streets if they were removed entirely—relegated to the alleys or put under ground. Think it over. It is merely a suggestion that may bring about the desired results.

Canada is wondering what Premier Laurier really means. He has called a special election to let the people decide who shall govern as to the acceptance of the tariff pact, and the people are now guessing what will be the result.

An Ohio man tore the shirt from his back, flogged a train and saved many lives from a wreck that must surely have followed. He forgot that that the only article to use in such an emergency was a woman's red petticoat.

August first sees many changes in the country. A few postal banks to be opened, new adjustment of rates, band concerts in Janesville, and the interurban running up and down Main street.

England, France and Germany are hard at work trying to discover which is the best bluffer. Thus far England has the whip hand. However, the War Lord of the Germans is not through yet.

The lumber trust is wondering what Uncle Sam means by all his activity in their behalf. They have been a protected industry so long that they can not understand what has happened to them.

A French scientist has made the wonderful discovery that a body rests more peacefully after fast, vigorous work. If this is true how about the contrary?

Those civil war pictures demonstrate the fact that some persons accomplished a lot in the Sixties despite the drawback of long hair and whiskers.

Potatoes are going to be a luxury this fall if present crop reports can be believed. The family that has salt and potatoes will be in the automobile class.

It may be necessary to put fenders on the rocks that line the Pacific coast yet in the late set of navigation.

PRESS COMMENT.
More Concessions.
Wausau Record-Herald: The legislature which adjourned this month added thirteen to the already large number of state commissions which will have to do with state government during the next two years, and probably longer.

The present commissions are costing the taxpayers half a million dollars a year, and this burden will probably be doubled.
This is one of the reasons why the expenses of the state have more than doubled during the past ten years, while the population has increased but thirteen per cent.
And the end is not yet.

Must Be the Tariff.
Baraboo Republic: It is said that the four states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois and Iowa have only about the same amount of agricultural population that they had in 1890, taking the four together. Yet they are immensely rich in natural resources. There is something wrong with existing conditions. There should be greater development, more commerce and bigger consuming markets.

Wanted: Common Sense.
Madison Democrat: A Hammond, Indiana, station agent refused to allow the use of a railway telephone to call a physician for a man who was bleeding to death. He was obeying orders and the man died as a result of his inexcusable lack of appreciation of what constitutes the pluckiest of common sense.

The Safest Course.
Proport Journal: It is confidently predicted that Colonel Roosevelt will take no part whatever in any pre-convention contests, either to support or oppose any republican aspirant. And when the convention has done its work he will cordially support the nominee of his party. We believe that the prediction is a truthful one.

Better Indicator.
Oakbrook Northwestern: President Taft, as it is claimed, will vote a wool tariff bill unless he is convinced that public sentiment is strongly in favor of making the experiment at this time. But he is secretly apt to learn the true condition of public sentiment by listening to members of congress who may have axes to grind.

Suggestions Wanted.
Shoboygan Journal: The tobacco trust is getting ready to re-organize. If you can think of a new name for it, send it along to New York. Thankfully received.

A Wise Ordinance.
Green Bay Gazette: That decision of the Wisconsin supreme court annulling a city ordinance compelling merchants to keep entrances protected from exposure to dust and flies will be approved generally as a progressive step in the protection of public health.

A MOTHER'S HEROISM.
Look how this love, this mother, runs through all. The world God made, even the beast, the bird.
—Tennyson.

From Kansas City comes a story of mother bravery that would make a fit theme for a noble poem which should sing the praises of mother devotion and heroism.

Mrs. Florence Young, the mother of five beautiful children, was busy about the work of her household. A ferocious dog, supposed to be a St. Bernard, ran into the house and attacked one of the little ones.

As a fierce tigress throws herself in defense of her young, Mrs. Young sprang upon the animal.
The little one escaped with a scratch, and then began the awful fight between the woman and the dog.

While the children stood about her screaming in their fright Mrs. Young fought the furious beast single handed, but with twice her usual strength. And she had the advantage.

Because she was not fighting for herself, but for her brood. And the brute was surprised and disconcerted by the tremendous attack of Mrs. Young.

Finally, with a howl of defeat, the dog gave way and ran from the place. The little ones were saved.
But at what expense!
The body of the poor mother was torn and lacerated, and the awful shock of the battle with the brute had prostrated her almost beyond revival.

For days she lay in the hospital suffering the possibility—almost the certainty—that she must pay the penalty of her intrepid contest by a horrible death.
Science saved her.
But always she will carry the scars of her heroism.
It was the week following "mother's day" when the incident occurred, and not one of the tributes of that day was too lofty to fit the mother love of this woman who gave the best full measure of devoted daring to her little flock.
Which is the mother of it?
Somebody has said—who was it?—somebody has said that God made mothers because he himself could not be around all the time.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds
Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Telephone Monopoly

Did you ever stop to consider how much the Rock County Telephone Company has saved the telephone users of Janesville since it started twelve years ago? It foots up nearly $300,000 saved by the big reduction in rates.

Read What Senator Cummins of Iowa Says of Monopoly

I admit that competition is sometimes cruel and oftentimes wasteful and extravagant, but it does distribute wealth and it does it with infinitely more justice than monopoly will do it. In the end the people who buy, will pay MORE under monopoly than under competition, and in the end the profits of capital will be VASTLY MORE under monopoly than under competition. If it were not so, there would be no motive for either trusts or monopolies. It is folly to believe that the public will endure a system which will permit capital to be rewarded with profits determined by no other force than such selfishness. In this age and in the ages to come, the many will not be slaves to the few, and the sooner we accept the truth that we must re-establish and reinvigorate competition in those fields from which it has been driven, or in which it has been impaired, the better it will be for our institutions.—Extract from recent speech by United States Senator Cummins, of Iowa.

Twelve years ago the rates of the Bell telephone were $4.00 per month for a business phone and $3.00 per month for a residence phone. During the twenty years the Bell phone enjoyed a monopoly here only had increased its list to a few over 300 telephones and those were business phones. Today there are close to

HIDDEN MESSAGES FOUND BY SCOUTS

SEARCH BEGAN LAST EVENING—TRACY ALLEN FIRST TODAY.

OTHER TESTS TAKEN

Several Ran the Mile at the Fair Grounds—Others Will Cook Their Own Supper Tonight.

Scarcely was The Gazette off the press last evening before a good dozen of the members of the Boy Scouts began their search for the hidden messages concealed by Charles Reeder, Scout Master No. 2. Two boys could not even wait for the printed directions but secured a typewritten copy from Mr. Reeder and reported back shortly they had found the message. These were Harold Laughlin and Joseph Franklin. To Tracy Allen, however, belongs the credit for the first discovery after the directions were printed.

Many Find Message.

In all some twenty-five of the fifty-five Scouts had reported up to two o'clock today they had found the message and the rest of the local brigade were hard at the search this afternoon. The message was concealed in the Third ward but many misread the directions at first and became confused when in the neighborhood of the main son factory and returned to Mr. Reeder's office for further instructions.

Parties in Brown.

It was really warlike to see the parties of brown garbed youths searching through the city for the message. All were in earnest and much interested in the matter. Mr. Reeder's office was besieged by the youths as soon as they found it and all were anxious for credit for their work of trailing it by following the printed directions.

Ran Mile.

In fact several were so enthusiastic today they took another test not arranged for that of running and walking a mile in twelve minutes. Six of the boys finished this stunt. In less than nine minutes. Several more made the attempt this afternoon and were successful in passing this test with credit to themselves.

To Cook Supper.

This evening the boys will take another test, that of cooking their pound of raw meat and two potatoes in an open fire without any utensils. They must lay the fire, light it using no paper and but two matches. The kindling must be cut with a jackknife and they must cook a good palatable meal for themselves.

First Aid to Injured.

The last test these boys will have to take will be that of first aid to the injured upon which Dr. Buckmaster has given them lectures. The next "hike" will come some time next week, the date to be announced at a later date. So much interest was shown in the last outing the boys are anxious to go again.

Go to Milton.

Several of the members of the local brigade will go to Milton on recruiting duty shortly, to camp out for a day or two, to add the proposed Milton brigade to organize. The businessmen of Milton have asked the Janesville boys to come and they are planning to do so. Scout Master Reeder will then go up to aid in formally organizing the Milton camp.

Many Uniformed.

Thus far some fifty-five have uniforms. Others will be accommodated as soon as they arrive. Several of the boys borrowed the money from headquarters to pay for the suits, it being one of the requirements the boys pay their own way, and the majority of the money loaned has already been paid back.

FULL-BLOODED INDIAN IN A CELL AT THE LOCK-UP

Howard Powell, Oneida Indian, From Reservation Near Green Bay, Picked Up Drunk Today.

Howard Powell, a full-blooded Oneida Indian, from the reservation near Green Bay, was arrested by Officer Patrick Fanning today and taken to the police station in the police patrol. Powell, who is a graduate of the Carlisle Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., where he spent eight years, had absorbed too much "red eye" and people living on Cherry street telephoned the police station that a drunk was stretched out on one of the sidewalks. Officer Fanning went with the patrol and took the man into custody. When the officers arrived Powell was found resting against the side of a tree trunk where he had been moved to get him out of the way of passers-by.

CAN FIND NO TRACE OF CARROLL SMITH

Milton Man, Who Disappeared July 11, Thought to Have Become Mentally Deranged and Wandered Away.

That Carroll Smith, the former living north of Milton, who disappeared from his home on July 11, has become mentally deranged and suffered a loss of memory is the theory held in connection with his mysterious disappearance and failure to reappear again. No trace has been found of Smith and no word has been heard of him since he left his wheel at the East Side hitch barn.

The theory that he may have met with foul play or has been drowned is not emphasized as strongly as before, as, had he fallen in the river, the body would have been found before this time. In case he had met with foul play in this city or elsewhere, his body would likely have been discovered and his relatives feel certain that there would be on him some mark of identification.

INTERURBAN STARTS CARS ON NEW ROUTE

Some Confusion at First But Little Delay in Handling Passengers.

When the first big interurban car ran up Main street this morning, it marked a new epoch in Janesville traffic. The car runs from the city limits on the interurban current as far as the corner of Milwaukee and Main streets, and it lost no time in arriving at its destination. Quite a crowd of the curious were on hand to welcome it and each succeeding car this morning brought numerous persons to the street to watch them turn around the "Y". There was some confusion as to the ticket office, the waiting room in the Myers hotel being still in process of construction so the tickets were sold over the office desk by the clerks. It will be a week before the waiting room is finished and the regular ticket counter installed.

The Milton avenue Franklin street cars began their regular journey as did the South Main street and cemetery line. Running as they do on a twenty minute service the cars are on the streets most of the time, giving the city a regular car service that will be appreciated.

The interurban cars run up Milwaukee street, east, until clear of the "Y", then back west and onto the switch back on to Main street again. There was some confusion owing to the switches not being strong enough to hold the big cars properly, but that will soon be adjusted.

A blaze had broken out in the shaft earlier in the afternoon and people living in the block had thrown water on it. The embers, however, had smoldered and the flames broke out again. The fire had been extinguished, however, when the chief arrived.

2. The mayor shall be president of the council, and have a vote therein, but no power of veto.

3. A majority of the members of the council shall constitute a quorum, and a majority vote of the members of the council shall be necessary to adopt any ordinance or resolution.

4. The mayor and councilmen shall be elected and re-elected upon every vote, and no vote shall be taken except upon a motion, a resolution or ordinance referred to writing.

5. All boards and commissions created and existing under laws heretofore in force in any city shall continue to exist, and all powers, authority, jurisdiction and duties conferred and imposed upon such boards and commissions shall remain unaffected by this act, except that the mayor shall not be ex-officio a member of any such board or commission.

6. Upon the first Tuesday in May following the reorganization of any city as provided for herein, and annually thereafter, the council shall select from among their number some one to act as a member of each of such boards and commissions. Such member so selected shall have all the power and authority vested by law in any other member of such board or commission, and shall serve as a member thereof so long as he shall remain in office or until the council select his successor. In cities which have heretofore reorganized under the provisions of this act, such selection shall be made at the first regular meeting of the council, after the passage and publication of this act, and annually thereafter on the first Tuesday of May.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By A. W. MACY.

HOW A BEGGAR BECAME A GENERAL.

Once upon a time a Japanese beggar named Hideoyoshi was sleeping over night upon a bridge. Before he arose in the morning he was roughly seized and ordered out of the way by an attendant of a young nobleman who was passing that way. Noticing that the nobleman was a mere lad, much younger than himself, the thought occurred to him, "Why should I get out of the way? He is rich and I am poor, but that makes no difference. I have heard of the rich becoming poor and the poor becoming rich. Some day I will rise to a higher position than he has, and then I will make him lie on my back." From that moment Hideoyoshi became a different man. He made a way for himself, was advanced from time to time, and finally became general-in-chief of the Japanese armies. He was an able commander, too, for he suppressed several formidable rebellions, and conducted two successful invasions of Korea.

TROOPS KILL MEXICAN MINERS.

Mob Attempts to Free Prisoners and Is Fired Upon.

El Oro, State of Mexico, Mexico, Aug. 1.—In repelling a mob of striking miners who freed the prisoners from the local jail the troops fired, killing fourteen and wounding others.

Fearing they might be the victims of an anti-foreign demonstration, many of the American women were sent out of the camp.

The strikers demand higher wages, but it was stated officially that the properties would be closed down before increases would be granted.

La Follette Says Digger House Will Be a "Pork Barrel" Boost.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Greater opportunity for machine domination and for the use of the "pork barrel" will be given by the proposed increase in the membership of the house of representatives, according to Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, who filed a minority report against the reapportionment bill.

The bill, which has passed the house and which is to be voted on in the senate Thursday, raises the house membership from 391 to 423.

SHORTS WARMLY GREET WIFE.

Refuses to Discuss Rumor Concerning Her Divorce Action.

New York, Aug. 1.—It looked as if the breach between Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough, and Mrs. Shonts, were at an end, when the traction magnate and his family met on the liner Rotterdam at quarantine.

Mr. Shonts went down the bay to meet his wife, two daughters, and little grandson, the Duc de Chaulnes, and the warmth of the greeting would seem to give the lie to the report that Mrs. Shonts was still considering filing a suit for separation.

When asked about the rumored infidelity, Mr. Shonts said:

"I never make public statements about my personal affairs. You can see for yourself, however, that I am here to meet every member of my family and not my daughters and grandson only."

Mrs. Shonts, who was all smiles when her interrogators bronched the subject, instantly froze in her manner.

VERNON M'KINNEY WINS STAKE.

Manitoba Horse Takes Pacing Class—Is at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 1.—Vernon McKinney, the Manitoba pacer, won the chamber of commerce stake at the opening of the grand circuit harness meeting here. For 15 years this has been the leading pacing classic of the turf and in that time the Canadians have trained hundreds of horses with this particular event in view and started a number, but never did they fare better than being second.

Peter the Second surprised everybody by his rush through the stretch to victory in the first heat, beating the highly tried Branham Baughman in a sizzling drive. Vernon McKinney cut out the pace in the next three heats and won handily.

Summaries:

2:19 trot, purse $1,000; Gordon Todd, won; Lady McKinney, second; Sid Anna, third. Best time, 2:13 1/2.

Chamber of commerce stake, 2:13 pace, $5,000; Vernon McKinney, won; Branham Baughman, second; Peter Preston, third. Best time, 2:03 1/2.

BEACH SHIP WITH 200 ABOARD.

Steamer Strikes Submerged Anchor in Delaware River; Badly Damaged.

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 1.—The steamer Burlington, en route to Philadelphia, was last night beached on the bank of the Delaware river after a hole had been torn in the bottom of the steamer by a submerged anchor.

There were nearly two hundred passengers, mostly women, on the steamer, but no one except the captain, engineer, and crew knew of the danger until the Burlington had been driven onto the sandy bank.

When the boat began to fill the engineer put on full steam and the big boat started toward the New Jersey side.

The passengers were transferred to a row and in tow of a tug were brought to this city.

Pittsburg Fears Epidemic Because Beasts Break From Cage.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—The North side is alarmed, fearing an epidemic of various diseases. The "poison squad" of 12 monkeys recently released from the Allegheny General hospital, where the pathologists were experimenting with them, have broken out of their big cage. They carry in their systems the germs of a hundred different diseases injected into them by the pathologists. Big rewards have been offered for their apprehension.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

WHY DOESN'T the minister come to tea any more nowadays? The regular, once-a-year-to-every-parishioner way he used to, I mean.

Surely there isn't anyone whose memory reaches back two or three decades but can remember the days when one would have as soon thought of omitting one's spring housecleaning as the minister's annual supper invitation.

I was talking with a woman who was a Methodist minister's daughter about this, and she told me how one day a little girl came to the parsonage and said her mother would like to have the minister come to tea next Wednesday. "She said you might as well come now and get it over for the winter," the youngster gratuitously explained.

Which is by way of illustrating not only infant depravity, but also the inevitable character of the minister's annual tea in the long ago.

And now—well, how long since the minister's been to your house to supper, I mean, of course? No, I don't suppose it will make any particular difference in your spiritual state nor in his happiness, if he never comes.

It's just one of those pleasant old customs that I somehow hate to see go—one of those relics of the time when Sunday morning church was an inextinguishable custom, when the delicious cream of tartar biscuits or Parker House rolls, and the peach preserves, and the festiveness of the best dishes, and the wonderful three layer cake, and the thrilling embarrassment of being asked where one went to school and if one liked it, by the minister man, on the great day when the minister came to tea?

And in those days when supper was ready, instead of dinner, we used to have our children's schoolroom to tea sometimes, too. Do you ever do that now?

Do you ever know by sight the woman who presides over more of your children's waking time than you do yourself?

Or has she, like the minister, ceased to be so much a person and become more an institution to you?

This is the day of organizations and institutions and impersonal relationships.

Of course in some ways it's a very splendid day, but then again I think we lose something of the old pleasant friendly flavor from our lives when we drop little customs like these.

Don't you?

The Candid Girl

by Barbara Boyd

Tells the Stenographer's Side of the Day's Work.

NOW if I were a stenographer," said the Candid Girl, "seems to me I would occasionally tell my employer a few plain truths."

"What like?" asked The Man.

"When he blows in, in the morning, like a near cyclone, rolls up his desk-lid with a bang, and wants to know why such a letter is not answered, and why an appointment hasn't been made with Smith on the phone for him, and why a dozen other things are not done, none of which could be done without his orders, I would like to tell him," said the Candid Girl sweetly. "That just because he has quarreled with his wife at the breakfast table, he doesn't take it out on me, or that if he hadn't hit it up with the boys quite a while ago, he wouldn't have a better taste in his mouth the morning after."

"I wouldn't advise you to," said The Man.

"But it might cool him down a bit. I think he'd stop going round like a teetotaler, and making a noise, and once more become a reasonable being."

"Perhaps!"

"And I'd like to tell him," went on the Candid Girl, and a smile curved her pretty lips, "that if he'd only think a minute or two before he began a letter, he could dictate it without changing every other line so that it needed an Assyriologist to decipher what he had said. Or when he does have an idea straight, not to rattle it off at such a rate of speed it would make a phonograph dizzy to get it. I would just like to remind him that a stenographer isn't a high-gear machine that can be made to take five hundred words a minute by throwing on a little more power. Because a person becomes a stenographer doesn't make her capable of taking a letter at any rate of speed that is easiest for her employer to dictate it."

"No, of course not," said The Man uneasily, but reflecting that he always had had an idea that a stenographer ought to take anything put up to her, and remembering how apt he was to pour out a torrent of words regardless whether his stenographer could get them or not, and then he said if she didn't.

"I would also tell him," said the Candid Girl, "that it is very poor management to leave his letters until four o'clock, so that his stenographer is all worried and hurried when she does them, and has to stay overtime every night to get them out. Because she doesn't have anything to do in the morning is no reason why she should be expected to stay willingly until eight o'clock at night. It isn't her fault that she is idle half the time, and this is no excuse for thinking she should not go when the hour comes for her to go, but that she should remain and finish letters he has delayed to give her."

The Man squirmed a bit at this.

"And then I should like to tell him," concluded the Candid Girl, with a sidelong glance from her pretty eyes, "that while he is dictating letters there is no need to be glancing admiringly at the stenographer's hair, or her complexion, or to be trying to say complimentary things to her. I don't mind flirting once in a very long while," continued the Candid Girl, with an innocent, far-away look in her eyes, "but an office isn't a pink tea, and I would just like to tell him that though a little nonsense now and then from friends may add a bit of spice to life, I am a bit fastidious in such matters, and don't care for it from any Tom, Dick and Harry who may happen to be my employer."

"I am afraid," said The Man, "that you would be soon hunting for a new position."

"Maybe!" said the Candid Girl, stilly. "But I have an idea the next stenographer would have a happier time."

The Kitchen Cabinet

It, THE KITCHEN, is the heart of the home. We all with cares are vexed, but there's lots of fun in living, just to see what happens next.

DAINTY DESSERTS.

Manhattan Pudding.—Mix a cup and a half of orange juice, a fourth of a cup of lemon juice and sweeten to taste. Turn into a brick mold. Whip a pint of heavy cream, add a half cup of powdered sugar, half a teaspoonful of vanilla and two-thirds of a cup of walnut meats chopped. Cover with waxed paper; pack in salt and ice, let stand three hours to ripen.

Angel Parfait.—Boil a cup of sugar and three-fourths of a cup of water until it threads from the spoon. Pour slowly on the beaten whites of three eggs, and continue beating until the mixture is cool. Add a pint of cream beaten stiff; flavor with vanilla and pack in baking powder cans to freeze. Serve with raspberry sauce.

Praline Ice Cream.—Blanch a cup of almonds and slice lengthwise, then brown in the oven, shaking the pan to brown them evenly. Chop fine. Carmelize a half cup of sugar and add two cups of scalded cream. As soon as the sugar is melted add the nuts, and three-fourths of a cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Cool and add a quart of cream and freeze.

German Ice Cream.—Mix one and a fourth cups of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour and a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Add two eggs beaten and two cups of scalded milk. Cook over hot water until the mixture thickens, then add two squares of melted chocolate, and cool. Add three cups of cream and a tablespoonful of vanilla. Strain and freeze. Just before serving add three cups of zwetback broken in small pieces.

SOME COOKERY FRILLS

POTATO SOUP IS IMPROVED BY A DASH OF VINEGAR.

Individual Pate is Out of Date—Delicious Salad of Different Nuts and Fruits and Shredded Celery.

The usual insipidity of potato soup is improved by adding a dash of vinegar just before serving. As all may not like the flavor the crust can be passed.

All fruit salads are improved by marinating in French dressing, though later served with mayonnaise.

Instead of the individual pate, it is more popular now to pass one or two large pates, each guest serving herself. Fill with mushrooms, oysters or creamed sweetbreads.

Mincemeat or French rolls for formal use are more diminutive than ever. The former should be the size of a 50-cent piece and a quarter-inch thick.

A delicious salad was made from different nuts, white grapes, a little shredded grape fruit, pineapple cut into cubes and shredded celery. Mask in mayonnaise or serve with a cream dressing.

When a boiled egg is the usual breakfast dish, vary it by breaking it raw into the eggcup and cooking in hot water to the desired consistency. The flavor is quite different than when cooked in the shell.

Fingers of bread about four inches long, quarter of an inch wide and the same thickness buttered thickly and browned in a quick oven are delicious to serve with boiled eggs.

Salad is now usually passed in a salad dish, but when served directly on the individual plates an appetizing and artistic effect can be had by making nests of shredded lettuce or chive, in which are eggs made of cream cheese colored with spinach juice and sprinkled thickly with paprika or black pepper. Cover with mayonnaise.

In baking a cake, stint the flour in the batter and you will have a much more tender cake.

Good cranberries cannot be made if the sugar is allowed to boil in with the berries. After the cranberries are soft and strained through a colander add a scant pound of sugar to a quart of berries, bring to a boil and cook four minutes. Put three-quarters of a pint of boiling water on the berries when first cooked.

Los Angeles, Cal.—The prophetic play in which Ethel Barrymore has been winning the praise of American theatre-goers, "Mid-Channel," is about to be borne out in her own life if current rumors are to be credited. Her career across the "Channel" of matrimony has been stormy and her ship has not been able to survive the sea of "mid-channel."

According to friends, her life even before the little baby arrived, was made unhappy through the cruelty of her husband, the wealthy Russell Griswold Colt. The rift came when she recently sent the baby to his father on a visit and it is said that he was unable to see the child because he had to attend a prize fight and a golf game.

Cream for filling.—One pint milk in double boiler, one-half cup of flour, two eggs beaten, salt, essence, one cup sugar; boil ingredients.

Orange Baskets.

Cut as many oranges as will be required, leaving half the peel whole for the basket and a strip half an inch wide for the handles. Remove pulp and juice; use juice for making orange jelly. Place baskets in a pan of broken ice to keep upright. Fill with orange jelly. When ready to serve put a spoonful of whipped cream over the jelly in each basket. Serve in a bed of green leaves.

LINEN AND SATIN.

A French gown of white linen brocade and blue satin. The gown is long and flowing, with a high collar and long sleeves. The skirt is full and reaches to the floor. The hat is large and ornate, with a veil.

HANDSOME NEW MODEL.

The model shown in the sketch exploiting the combination idea is extremely pleasing, and may be developed in any number of different materials and effects. In linen it would be most charming to use heavy linen lace for the skirt and upper part of the bodice, or if one fancies a change, striped linen could be employed in place of the lace. As shown in the sketch, foulard and lace dyed to match developed the costume. The edges are finished with silk half fringe.

THE MODERN HAIR DRESS

Causes Baldness.—We Cannot Change the Head Dress, But We Can Prevent Baldness.

Up to the time we began to civilize him a bald headed Indian was a thing unknown. Wearing nothing on his head except the covering furnished by nature and being a stranger to the use of a hair brush, especially the public one, the scalp and hair had plenty of ventilation, much sunlight and, hence, a condition favorable to a luxuriant growth of hair existed at all times.

It was the adoption of a head and light excluding head gear and artificial head decorations generally, together with the occasional use of a community hair brush, which gave the dandruff germ its opportunity. Since this parasite has multiplied to an alarming degree until now there is hardly a person who is not troubled more or less with dandruff and falling hair.

Many, to be sure, have passed the worrying stage. Having become chronically bald they realize that nothing is capable of producing natural hair for them. Let these be a warning to all who are experiencing the significant annoyance of dandruff and falling hair.

Dandruff, which is due to a germ, and falling hair can both be overcome by the regular use of Newbro's Herpicide.

This wonderful scalp remedy kills the vicious germ which causes dandruff, cleanses the scalp and stops the hair from coming out. The destruction of the germ permits the hair to grow naturally and luxuriantly as nature intended.

Herpicide makes the hair bright, shiny, light and fluffy.

PIGEON FANCIERS BECOMING ACTIVE

FLIGHTS MADE BY ALEX. BUCHANAN'S HOMING PIGEONS AROUSES THE INTEREST OF LOCAL SPORTSMEN.

GOOD FLIGHTS MADE

220 and 300 Mile Flights Made Recently With Great Success—Plans Are Being Made to Organize a Club in Janesville.

Twelve of the fourteen birds sent out by Alexander Buchanan returned from their Sunday flights of three hundred miles in time that compares favorably with records made by old birds in some of the competitive flights throughout the country. Two of the birds made the return trip in 4 hours and 26 minutes, covering the total distance at the rate of 103.18 yards per minute. Within four minutes after the first pair had reached the loft two more alighted and during the following four hours came in. Two of the fourteen have failed to appear as yet and if they ever do return it will be remarkable that such a large per cent of young birds should cover that distance safely the first time.

Fast Time Made.
A few of the pigeon fanciers of the city and a representative of the Gazette witnessed the return of the first six birds and checked the record of their time. This was done at the request of Mr. Buchanan to make certain that there would be no reason for questioning the report.

The time made by these pigeons when compared with records of racing flights compared favorably with the average made by old, trained birds. In the 300 mile race at San Antonio, Texas, where 116 birds were entered, the best time made was 946.02 yards per minute, which is much less than that of Mr. Buchanan's young pigeons. Considering also that the flight Sunday was made in the teeth of a very strong wind it is considered remarkable that the time made was so good.

Interest Aroused.
Mr. Buchanan, familiarly known as "Sandy," has a flock of about fifty-four pigeons and started in trying his birds on long flights a few weeks ago. In flights of 100 and 220 miles which his birds made the results were so satisfactory that he felt safe to try them for the longer flight which they covered Sunday.

In the 220 mile flight the first bird to return made the trip at the rate of 1,051 yards per minute, which is better than a large per cent of the records held by trained old birds for a distance of 200 miles.

These experiments conducted by Mr. Buchanan are arousing the interest of several others in the city. At present there are six men who are more or less actively engaged in this sport as pigeon fanciers. These men are: John McDonough, Charles Brockhaus, Wm. McVicar, Harry Marshall, Thomas Dutton and Charles Gibson. The number of enthusiasts is increasing gradually and it is expected that within a year a permanent club will be organized for carrying on pigeon races.

At the present there is such a club in Milwaukee and in nearly all of the large cities and each is affiliated with one of the two large central organizations, the National Association of the International Federation.

Birds Are Marked.
Members of the local clubs are supplied by the central society with bands to be placed on the leg of each of their young pigeons. These bands are numbered and a record is kept of the number and the person to whom issued and in case the bird is lost it is an easy matter for the finder to locate the owner by reporting to the secretary of the central organization. Through him the original owner of the bird can be located by means of the record of the band's issue. These bands are placed on the legs of the little birds when they are only eight days old and fit so tightly that there is no possibility of their slipping off.

Regular racing rules are adopted under the direction of the central body and everything in connection with the sport is carried on in a systematic manner.

In regular races the birds are all released at a given time and place after the racing secretary has fastened a band bearing a certain number about the leg of each pigeon.

Then the arrival of the birds at their respective lofts the owners check them in by removing this band from the racer's leg and inserting the band into a specially prepared time clock that shows exactly the moment that the band was inserted. In this way the results of the races are determined with the utmost fairness.

Preparation for Flight.
In the preparation of birds for such flights there is much to be done that the average individual does not realize. First of all the pigeons must be given their regular exercise. This is done by letting them out and compelling them to fly about in the vicinity of the loft. If they attempt to alight they must be prevented from doing so by any means possible. It is considered especially important that they never be allowed to alight on the ground lest when in some long distance flight they may be tempted to do the same.

Then comes the training to cultivate their powers of observation and memory. They are taken short distances at first and this distance is gradually increased until the birds are thoroughly familiar with the country for about ten miles in every direction from their loft. Then comes the training for longer flights. Each bird or group of birds is taken in a certain direction from the home loft and given trials in that direction only. As in the case of the birds used by Mr. Buchanan one group is used for flights from the north and another from the south. By taking the same pigeons first to the north and then to the south it has been found that they become bewildered, which seems to show that they can remember but one thing at a time.

Care in Selection.
In the selecting of birds for racing extreme care must be exercised in the examination. It has been proven by experiment that the loss of even a single wing feather will greatly retard the progress of a bird, especially where the distance to be covered is very great.

In these and many other particulars there is much to fascinate the person who has time to devote to the sport. It is entirely free from the cramped work that enters into such games as horse racing. Some of the risks involved in the making of speed kings on wheels or in the air are to be experienced in this simple game. And for those who wish to engage in a harmless game and who love to study the characteristics of these wonderful birds, the fun of keeping and training homing pigeons affords a source of enjoyment that few people fully appreciate.

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

(By H. L. RANN.)

An enterprising inventor has devised a method of getting something out of the pig besides spare ribs and a ham. He has brought out a self-grinder which makes every one who uses it punch his own meat ticket.

The feed is fed into a hopper with an extension rim, and the pig does his own grinding by turning the rim with his snout. The ground feed appearing as he works the rim around. This ought to be a greater boon than the non-splashing garter. No philanthropy could be finer or nobler than that of introducing into the breast of a bloated Berkshire the love of manual labor. The inventor who provided this gadget is a public benefactor. It must be an inspiring sight to see an adipose about grinding out his modest midday repast with the aid of a professional snout. The only objection is that the pig with a hearty appetite will be kept busy getting dinner ready than a beach-bum Newfoundland dog. Men who have watched the operation of this device tell us that it is also open to the objection that after a fat hog has chased himself around the machine a few times in search of filling he becomes as dizzy as a totem with the vertigo. It is easy to see how, over, that it meets a long-felt want.

The comb of the Brahmin rooster should be carried out every morning. The Brahmin is a proud bird, and has the cockiest knee action of any fowl on the farm. He puts in more time on his toilet than the White Leghorn, which is popularly considered the Lord Chesterfield of the poultry. The Brahmin appreciates such little favors as ironing out his tail-feathers and running over his teeth with a toothbrush, and it is time well spent.

Why Should I Use Cuticura Soap?

"There is nothing the matter with my skin, and I thought Cuticura Soap was only for skin troubles." True, it is for skin troubles, but its great mission is to prevent skin troubles. For more than a generation its delicate emollient and prophylactic properties have rendered it the standard for this purpose, while its extreme purity and refreshing fragrance give to it all the advantages of the best of toilet soaps. It is also invaluable in keeping the hands soft and white, the hair live and glossy, and the scalp free from dandruff and irritation.

While its first cost is a few cents more than that of ordinary toilet soaps, it is prepared with such care and of such materials, that it wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of other soap, and making its use, in practice, most economical. Cuticura Soap is sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, but the truth of these claims may be demonstrated without cost by sending to "Cuticura," Dept. M, Boston, for a liberal sample cake, together with a thirty-two-page book on the skin and hair.

Shall Janesville Remain in the Dark?

The street lighting committee of the Industrial and Commercial club feel that the city council have made a mistake in turning down the proposition for art lights in the business district and are renewing their efforts with more energy than ever. Ornamental street lighting would be one of the strongest advertising features that Janesville could have. It would be a guide for our visitors from the time they reached the city and their first impression would be a progressive city, and on leaving the city our lights would leave a lasting impression. There is nothing that speaks so well for a city as clean and well lighted streets.

This is a matter that not only the merchants should be interested in but every property owner and tax payer of the city as well.

Just let us stop and consider the amount of money expended by the various merchants and manufacturers for advertising. The city we live in is a far greater business in itself than the individual merchant or manufacturer. A city that does not consider the business side of its municipality is bound to be a back number and will eventually lose out with its neighbors.

The more advertising done by the merchant and manufacturer, the more his business will be. This should also be true of a city. Now is there any other method by which our city can secure the same amount and as good a piece of advertising as it can from these lights for the amount of money expended.

The proposed plan of this committee is to divide the installation cost between the abutting property owners and tenants, the maintenance to be provided by the city government which cost would not be more than $4000 per annum, and when you consider our assessed valuation of over 10 million, the amount of tax on each property holder would be very small indeed, and would not work a hardship on anyone and would be a great benefit to the city as a whole.

and its tonic qualities. Scientists and chemists say that one pint of Beer contains more nutriment than a quart of milk, than 20 ounces of round steak, that it is a better appetizer than whiskey or wine, a better table beverage than coffee or tea.

Beer you know is pure brew of malt and hops which has been thoroughly aged before being offered for sale. Golden Crown Beer is of inestimable value to invalids and those who are constitutionally weak and easily fatigued for it imparts vim and vitality and makes for physical strength.

that I had gained nothing in a year?"

"Shot at you?" she echoed, and now he might have discovered a note of real concern in her tone if his ear had been attuned to hear it. "Tell me about it. Who was it? And why did he shoot at you?"

His answer seemed to be indifference itself.

"How long do you expect to stay in Angola and its vicinity?" he asked.

"I don't know. This is partly a pleasure trip for us younger folk. Father was coming out alone, and I—that is, mamma decided to come and make a car party of it. We may stay two or three weeks if the others wish it. But you haven't answered me. I want to know who the man was and why he shot at you."

"Exactly, and you have answered yourself. If you stay two weeks or two days in Angola you will doubtless hear all you care to about my troubles. When the town isn't talking about what it is going to do to me it is gossiping about the dramatic arrest of my would-be assassin."

"You are most provoking!" she declared. "Did you make the arrest?"

"Don't shame me needlessly. Of course I didn't. One of our locomotive engineers, a man whom I had discharged for drunkenness, was the hero. It was a most daring thing." And he told her Judson's story.

Miss Eleanor did not need to vocalize her approval of Judson; the dark eyes were alight with excitement.

"How fine!" she applauded. "Of course after that you took Mr. Judson back into the railway service?"

"Indeed I did nothing of the sort, nor shall I until he demonstrates that he means what he says about letting the whiskey alone."

"Until he demonstrates." Don't be so cold blooded, Howard! Possibly he saved your life."

"Quite probably. But that has nothing to do with his reinstatement as an engineer of passenger trains. It would be much better for Bufford to kill me than for me to let Judson have the chance to kill a trainload of innocent people."

"And yet a few moments ago you called yourself a coward, cousin mine. Could you really face such an alternative without flinching?"

"It doesn't appeal to me as a question involving any special degree of courage," he said slowly. "I am a great coward, Eleanor, not a little one, I hope."

"It doesn't appeal to you?" she said.

"And I have been calling you— But would you do it, Howard?"

He smiled at her sudden earnestness.

"How generous your heart is, Eleanor, when you let it speak for itself. If you will promise not to let it change your opinion of me—you shouldn't change it, you know, for I am the same man whom you held up to scorn the day we parted—if you will promise I'll tell you that for weeks I have gone about with my life in my hands knowing it. It hasn't required any great amount of courage. It merely comes along in the line of my plain duty to the company. It's one of the things I draw my salary for."

"You haven't told me why this desperate wanted to kill you—why you are in such a deep sea of trouble out here, Howard," she reminded him.

"No. It is a long story, and I would bore you if I had time to tell it. And I haven't time, because that is Williams' whistle for the Angola yard."

He had risen and was helping his companion to her feet when Mrs. Brewster came to the car door to say:

"Oh, you are out here, are you Howard? I was looking for you to let you know that we dine in the Nudlin at 7. If your duties will permit—"

Judge-wood's refusal was apologetic but firm.

"I am very sorry, Cousin Jessica, he protested. "But I left a awful lot of stuff when I ran away to the wreck this morning, and really I'm afraid I shall have to beg off."

"Oh, don't be so dreadfully formal!" said the president's wife impatiently.

"You are a member of the family, and all you have to do is to say bluntly that you can't come and then come whenever you can while we are here. You will come to us whenever you can, Howard; that is understood," she said. And so the social matter rested.

Lidgerwood was half way down the platform of the Crow's Nest, heading for his office and the neglected desk when Williams' engine came backing through one of the yard tracks on its way to the roundhouse. At the moment of its passing, a little man with his cap pulled over his eyes dropped from the gangway step and bounced across to the headquarter

It was Judson, and, having seen him last toiling away man fashion at the

"HELLO, JUDSON! HOW DID YOU GET HERE?"

wreck in the Crosswater Hills, Lidgerwood hailed him.

"Hello, Judson! How did you get here? I thought you were doing a turn with McCloskey."

The small man's grin was ferocious.

"I was, but Mac said he didn't have any further use for me—said I was too much of a runt to be lifting and pulling along with grooved up men. I came down with Williams on the 6d."

Lidgerwood turned away. He remembered his reluctant consent to McCloskey's proposal touching the engine upon Hallock and was sorry he had given it. But it was too late to recall it now.

CHAPTER XV.
HELIX SIGNAL.

LIDGERWOOD'S new stenographer, Grady, was a rapid, capable young fellow with the gift of knowing how to make himself indispensable to a superior, coupled with the ability to take care of much of the routine correspondence without specific instructions and with a disposition to be loyal to his salt.

Climbing the stairs to his office on the second floor of the Crow's Nest after the brief exchange of question and answer with Judson, Lidgerwood found his helper hard at work grinding through the day's train mail.

"Colman's wire that you were on Mr. Braverton's special, and I was waiting on the chance that you might want to rush something through when you got in," said Grady, reaching mechanically, for his notebook.

"I shall want to rush a lot of it through after awhile, but you'd better go and get your supper now and come back fresh for it," said the superintendent, who was always humane to every one but himself. "Was there anything special in today's mail?"

"Only this," turning up a letter marked "Immediate" and bearing the cancellation stamp of the postal car which had passed eastward on train 202.

Lidgerwood read the marked letter twelve before he placed it two down in the "unanswered" basket. It was from Flemlster, and it called for a decision which the superintendent was willing to postpone for the moment. He had not seen Flemlster since the day of the rather spiteful conversation, with the building and loan title for a tope, and on that occasion the mine owner had gone away with threats in his mouth. Yet his letter was distinctly friendly, conveying an offer of neighborly help.

The occasion for the neighborliness arose upon a right of way involvement. Acting under instructions from Vice President Ford, Lidgerwood had already begun to move in the matter of extending the Red Butte Western toward the Nevada gold fields, and Benson had been running preliminary surveys and making estimates of cost. Of the two more feasible routes the which left the main line at the Little Butte, turning southward up the Silver gulch, had been favorably reported by the engineer. The right of way over this route, save for a few families through an upland valley of cattle ranches, could be acquired from the government, and among the ranch owners only one was disposed to fight the coming of the railroad—for a purely mercenary purpose, Benson dis-

It was about this man, James Grady, that Flemister wrote. The ranchman, so the letter stated, had passed through Little Butte early in the day on his way to Red Butte. He would be returning by the accommodation late in the afternoon and would stop at the Wire Silver mine, where he had stabled his horses. For some reason he had taken a dislike to Benson, but if Lidgerwood could make it convenient to come over to Little Butte on the evening passenger train from Angelo the writer of the letter would arrange to keep Grady over night, and the right of way matter could doubtless be settled satisfactorily.

This was the substance of the mine owner's letter, and if Lidgerwood had listed it was partly because he was suspicious of Flemister's sudden friendliness. Then the motive—Flemister's motive—suggested itself, and the suspicion was put to sleep. The Wire Silver mine was five miles distant from the main line at Little Butte at the end of a spur; if the extension should be built it would be a main line station, with all the advantages accruing therefrom.

Lidgerwood looked at his watch. If Grady should not be gone too long he might be able to work through the pile of correspondence and get away on the evening passenger, and when the stenographer came back the work was attacked with that end in view. But after an hour's rapid dictating a long drawn whistle signal announced the incoming of the train he was trying to make and warned him that the race against time had failed.

"It's no use; we'll have to make two bites of it," he said to Grady, and then he left his desk to go downstairs for a breaching moment and a cup of coffee.

Train 205, the train Flemister had suggested that he might take, was just pulling in from the long run across the desert when he reached the foot of the stairs. That it was too late to take this means of reaching Little Butte and the Wire Silver mine was a small matter; it merely meant that he would be obliged to order out the service car and go special, if he should finally decide to act upon Flemister's suggestion.

Lidgerwood marked a group of discharged railroaders withdrawing to a corner of the lunch room as he entered and while the waiter was serving him coffee he saw Hallock join the group. Once again Lidgerwood remembered McCloskey's proposal and his own reluctant assent to it, and now he was not too greatly conscience stricken when he saw Judson quietly working his way through the crowded room to a point of exit upon the group in the corner.

The keen inner sense which neither the physiologists nor the psychologists have yet been able to define or to name apprised him of a threat developing in the distant corner, but he resolutely ignored it, drank his coffee and presently went his way around the peopled end of the building and back to the office entrance, meaning to go above stairs and put in another bout with Grady before he should decide definitely about making the night run to Little Butte.

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been cured, to those who are in need of it.

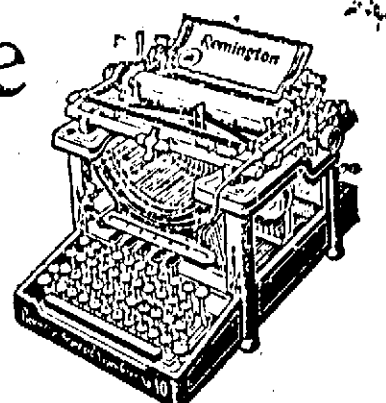

In an interview on the subject a prominent local druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows immediate results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy that I know of has so large a sale."

The success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

A free trial bottle will be sent by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. Regular size bottles sold at all druggists—50c and $1.00.
